PARAMENTS

Liturgical colors have an instructional purpose and point us to the life of Christ and the great acts of redemptive history.

These colored hangings, called paraments, adorn the pulpit, communion table, and baptismal font.

Green represents spiritual growth and world missions.

It is displayed during “ordinary time,” which is the period between Epiphany and Lent.

CELEBRATION of WORSHIP

The Greeting and Announcements

The Prelude

*During this time, be prayerful and reverent in preparation for the worship of our holy God in His sanctuary.
(Please silence all phones and electronic devices.)*

✠ The Call to Worship

from Isaiah 40

Leader: Who has measured the waters in the hollow of his hand and marked off the heavens with a span, enclosed the dust of the earth in a measure and weighed the mountains in scales and the hills in a balance? Who has measured the Spirit of the LORD, or what man shows him his counsel? Whom did he consult, and who made him understand? Who taught him the path of justice, and taught him knowledge, and showed him the way of understanding? “To whom then will you compare me, that I should be like him?” says the Holy One. Have you not known? Have you not heard? The LORD is the everlasting God, the Creator of the ends of the earth.

✠ The Prayer of Invocation

The Reading of the Law

Westminster Shorter Catechism, 79–81

Leader: What is the tenth commandment?

Unison: The tenth commandment is, “You shall not covet your neighbor’s house; you shall not covet your neighbor’s wife, or his male servant, or his female servant, or his ox, or his donkey, or anything that is your neighbor’s.”

Leader: What is required in the tenth commandment?

Unison: The tenth commandment requires full contentment with our own condition, with a right and charitable frame of spirit toward our neighbor, and all that is his.

Leader: What is forbidden in the tenth commandment?

Unison: The tenth commandment forbids all discontentment with our own estate, envying or grieving at the good of our neighbor, and all inordinate motions and affections to anything that is his.

The Call to Confession

1 John 1:8–9

Leader: If we say we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us. If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

The Corporate Prayer of Confession

Unison: Father God, every good and perfect gift comes from above. And you have graciously poured out more than we could possibly imagine. You have given us this beautiful creation to subdue and cultivate. You have given us your word to sustain us and change us. You have given us your son and your spirit to give us life and hope. You have provided for our daily needs, and you have gone to make a place for us. And you have given us relationships, which are a joy and help us persevere. And yet despite your lavish generosity, we simply want more. We fill our minds with the things that we don’t have, instead of gratefully living in the grace of what we have been given. We delude ourselves that just one more item, one more experience, one more person will bring peace and contentment that can only be found in you.

Please restore unto us the joy of our salvation. Kindly give to us a profound rest in what you have done for us in Jesus. Help us desire to know the giver, instead of getting lost in the gifts. In Jesus' name, Amen.

The Assurance of Pardon

Galatians 3:10, 13; 2 Corinthians 5:21

Leader: For all who rely on works of the law are under a curse; for it is written, "Cursed be everyone who does not abide by all things written in the Book of the Law, and do them." Christ redeemed us from the curse of the law by becoming a curse for us—for it is written, "Cursed is everyone who is hanged on a tree."

For our sake he made him to be sin who knew no sin, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God.

Let us join in prayer, offering our praise, thanksgiving, and intercession to God.*

Our offering is an act of worship in which we express our gratitude and reliance on God.

For those of you who are guests with us today, giving is not obligatory.

We are eager to share with you more about our church and its ministry and to invite you to participate with us as you are called by God.

The Postlude

As you leave the sanctuary today, may you know the hope to which God has called you, experience the riches of his glorious inheritance in the saints, and trust his incomparably great power for us who believe.

Please help us love our community by recycling your unneeded bulletins as you leave. A recycling bin is located by the door in the narthex.

‡ As the communion elements are distributed, please wait until all are served so that we may partake together.

NOTES

DISCUSSION AND APPLICATION

- ❖ What good thing is being misdirected or distorted by the sin of covetousness? What makes this so challenging to identify?
- ❖ God's law restrains evil, lights our path, and shows us our sin. What do you see in the mirror when the tenth command is held up in front of you? How will you respond when, by the grace of God, that which is shaping your desires is exposed?
- ❖ Try and explain to someone what this phrase means: the expulsive power of a new affection.
- ❖ Where are you most tempted to consume and entertain covetousness? How can you fuel contentment?
