PARAMENTS

Liturgical colors have an instructional purpose and point us to the life of Christ and the great acts of redemptive history.

These colored hangings, called paraments, are seen on the pulpit, communion table, and baptismal font.

Green represents spiritual growth and world missions.

It is displayed during “ordinary time,” which is the period between Pentecost and Advent.

NOTES

DISCUSSION AND APPLICATION

- ❖ When is it the most difficult to believe that the Lord directs your path? What might you be believing instead? When has the Lord taken you down a path that you didn't want to take? How have you seen his wisdom and care in going the "long way" instead of the shortest and direct way?
- ❖ What was the significance of taking the bones of Joseph out of Egypt? What does this say about our expectations and confidence in God's presence and promises?
- ❖ It is pretty easy to say, "God must lead us", but what does that look like? How do we know that we're actually looking to Him and following his lead? Does the presence of the Holy Spirit make any difference? How?
